

COMMUNITIES LEADING IN TOURISM

The hugely popular Communities Leading in Tourism course is back!

Applications are open for individuals working with tourism related community led projects. It's a personal online leadership course to give you the skills and specialist tourism insights you'll need to influence, plan and manage a sustainable tourism recovery for your community.

Communities Leading in Tourism is part of the newly launched Scottish Tourism Leadership Programme, and is fully funded by the Scottish Government. It's a 12 day online programme delivered by the Social Enterprise Academy over a three month period starting at the end of January 2022. There are 30 places available for the winter cohort, and anyone based in Scotland can apply. Places are competitive.
